Tokyo Raid Thrill of 'Lifetime' for Interned Newsmen

Recently Released A. P. Newsmen Tell of Historic Event

(Editors' Note: Vaughn Meisling and Joseph Dynan, Associated Press correspondents who tell of their experiences under Japanese internment, were at Hongkong and Tokyo, respectively, when Japan went to war with the United States. They are en route home with other internees exchanged for Japanese Nationals taken to Lourenco Marques on the liner Gripsholm.)

(Meisling, 39, was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, and became a naturalized United States citizen in 1928 at Philadelphia where he worked on the Evening Bulletin. He went to China as a staff member of the North China Daily News at Shanghai and joined the Associated Press staff at Peking in 1940, going to Hongkong in April, 1942.)

(Born in Chicago, Dynan, 29, grew up in Kansas City. He worked on a number of newspapers in the United States, the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and the Japan Times and Advertiser at Tokyo before joining the Associated Press staff there in the summer of 1939.)

Their stories complete a picture of life for interned Americans in three major centers held by the Japanese. Last night, Morris Harris and James D. White told in a dispatch of conditions at Shanghai, where they said the Japanese had steadily tightened their grip on the International Settlement but had gone along in Shanghai itself in fear of causing to panic the city's 5,000,000 Chinese.)

By Joseph Dynan

Lourenco Marques, Portuguese East Africa, July 24.—(Delayed)—(AP)—General Doolittle's raid on Japan provided the thrill of a lifetime for a group of Americans at an internment camp mid-way between Tokyo and Yokohama.

One of the U. S. planes flew directly over our camp and the music of its motors was sweeter than Beethoven's fifth symphony which our phonograph was playing at the time.

It was shortly after noon on April 18 that the big thrill came. We were having coffee and past when the police rushed into our camp excitedly and told us to extinguish the fires in the bunks and close the windows because there was an air raid.

We thought it was only a drill—even when we heard two tremendous explosions in the direction of the Kawasaki industrial area.

A few seconds later, however, we saw a large twin-motored plane flying very low. Bursts of anti-aircraft shells were streaking after it. The raider dropped down 100 feet to skim rooftops and escaped.

Spot Raiders

It flew overhead as a squadron of slow Japanese biplanes arose from a nearby training field and circled around looking for the Americans. But by that time this particular raider was far away over Tamagawa valley speeding toward Fuji where it disappeared into the mists.

We even spotted two raiders far off in the direction of Yokohama's docks, and that evening the radio told us of raids on Kobe, Osaka, and Nagoya.

Our guards were very excited, and later we heard that plane factories in Nagoya were badly damaged. Kawasaki likewise was hit, and 350 workers were reported killed there.

Three days later I noted a small plane in the Japanese press telling of a mass burial of Japanese marines at Yokosuka.

Mrs. Theodore Walser, wife of a missionary, said her husband and several other internees saw the American fliers wave to people on a ground in Waseda area. Walser said one raider flew over the town where hastily-summoned air raid wardens dashed about excitedly. All was confusion with a Japanese.

False Alarm

The night after the raid the planes blew again, but no planes pursued ships patrolled the air constantly.

Aside from the reactions of individual Japanese, the tone of the press indicated that Japanese misperceptions were shaken considerably by the American thrust into Japan's supposedly invulnerable defenses.

Japanese ministers presented themselves to the emperor to apologize and it was rumored that one army officer responsible for Tokyo's defense shot himself.

Early in March police investigating Max Hill, the Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief, who was held in jail, came to quiz me concerning new stories which I had taken from the Japanese foreign office's short-wave summary I passed on to Hill.

Two weeks before my departure I was taken along with other respondents to the Sanni hotel where a luncheon was given us. A luncheon, the Japanese said, under the auspices of the Pacific War Relief Committee," a

Resigns

The Vestry of St. Luke's church announced today that the Rev. Father B. Norman Burke has resigned as rector of the local parish in order to accept a call to the rectorship of Emmanuel church, Rockford.

Effective September first, the resignation will terminate an eleven year rectorate which began on June 15, 1931.

The War Today!

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst

As the great battle for the Caucasus swells to the peak of the crisis upon which the outcome of the war may depend, and allied fortunes swing precariously in the balance, providence has spurred us to renewed efforts by making further disclosures of the extent of the Nazi and Japanese designs upon the freedom of the world.

In one instance we have the German government broadcasting that Japanese Prime Minister General Tojo declared in a public speech "Japan is determined to destroy the United States and Great Britain." When Tojo talks of destroying the two great western powers he of course refers to destruction of their sovereignty.

Now that's merely a reiteration of the program of the bloody-minded Jap militarists who knifed America in the back. You may recall that even before Nippon performed this barbaric act of perfidy, Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander in chief of the combined fleets of his country, stated that "I am looking forward to dictating peace to the United States in the White House at Washington."

Yamamoto is a fanatical patriot who works for a new world order in which the Anglo-Saxon powers would be inferior to Japan. A better picture of what this means comes from the current disclosures by American newspapermen just repatriated from imprisonment in Japan. The treatment they reveal, coupled with previous authentic reports of atrocities against prisoners, and the literal enslavement of hundreds of thousands of conquered Chinese, do not leave much room for doubt as to what our fate would be if Japan won this war.

Even more illuminating and shocking, however, is the information contained in documents made public by the British information service in New York with the announcement that they were found on captured German prisoners in Libya. One of these papers is a secret memorandum from the German high command, and the other is a statement by Hitler on post-war plans.

These documents depict a world in which the conquered nations are to be permanently deprived of their freedom. They are to be made vassals of Germany. Hitler's statement recognizes that these vanquished peoples wouldn't be "well disposed to the reich" and he therefore has made provision for the creation of a vast police force of elite guard (S. S.) soldiers who would wield the lash over the unhappy bondsmen.

This means that Hitler wouldn't trust control of the conquered peoples to his regular army. And

U.S. Sub Commander Breaks Old Axiom; Sinks Destroyers

3 Jap Destroyers in Aleutians Go Down July 4

BY KEITH WHEELER

(Copyright, 1942, Chicago Times, Inc.)

Somewhere in Alaska, July 13.—(Delayed)—There are no absolutes in war, the reason being that about the time a rule becomes well established some inspired idiot happens along and blows it out of the water.

Until July 4 it was axiomatic that submarines keep clear of destroyers.

There was good reason for this prudence. Destroyers are the natural enemies of submarines. All a destroyer's speed and nimble maneuverability, its guns, depth charges and sound-gear are contrived to work the death of subs.

But on Independence Day an American sub skipper in these fog-bound waters grew bored with the rules and blew up three Japanese destroyers in about as many minutes. Within a few hours other American subs finished off two more Jap destroyers and by now, one supposes, the Tokyo admirals are revising the rule book.

(The navy has since announced the sinking of three more Jap destroyers at Kiska by submarines.)

Everybody in America and in Japan, too, probably knows the essential facts by now, but it was not until today that a few of the incredible details found their way out of the cold gray depths around lonely Kiska.

The story came from the commander of submarines in the north Pacific.

"She has," he said, speaking of the three-for-one submarine, "added a glorious page to the record of the submarine service. This operation can be summed up as an opportunity made through the ingenuity, resourcefulness and aggressiveness of the commanding officer of the submarine."

Ordered to Destroy Enemy

The full story, he pointed out, rightfully belonged to the sub skipper, but he didn't know when or if he would be told.

To begin with the sub was on station in the Kiska area and proceeding under a general directive to seek out the enemy and destroy same.

The enemy was known to be present with both heavy and light ships, but seeking him out and destroying him was a job of heart-breaking difficulty. First, the Aleutian fogs customarily reduced visibility to a negative quality. Moreover that part of the Aleutians which lies below the surface is as mountainous as the peaks above. There are sudden peaks, unsuspected shoals, up-thrusting rocks, uncharted currents and tremendous depths.

But on July 4 the sub skipper thought over the difficulties, apparently gave some loneonesome thought to celebrations back home, and probably decided on, the hell with it.

"With great skill and ingenuity, using every device at his command, he made his way into the enemy's hiding place," the commander of North Pacific subs said.

The fog must have broken for a moment, he thought. As the sub prowled along the rocky coast it came abreast of a small cove and the skipper found himself looking three ships in the eye.

At first he couldn't identify the types but there wasn't any question about their nationality.

The sub ghosted in. At cautious intervals the skipper raised the periscope long enough for a quick look. He was almost within point blank torpedo range when the veiling mist broke enough for him to realize that he was staring down the throats of three new 1,700-ton destroyers. And all three were riding at anchor.

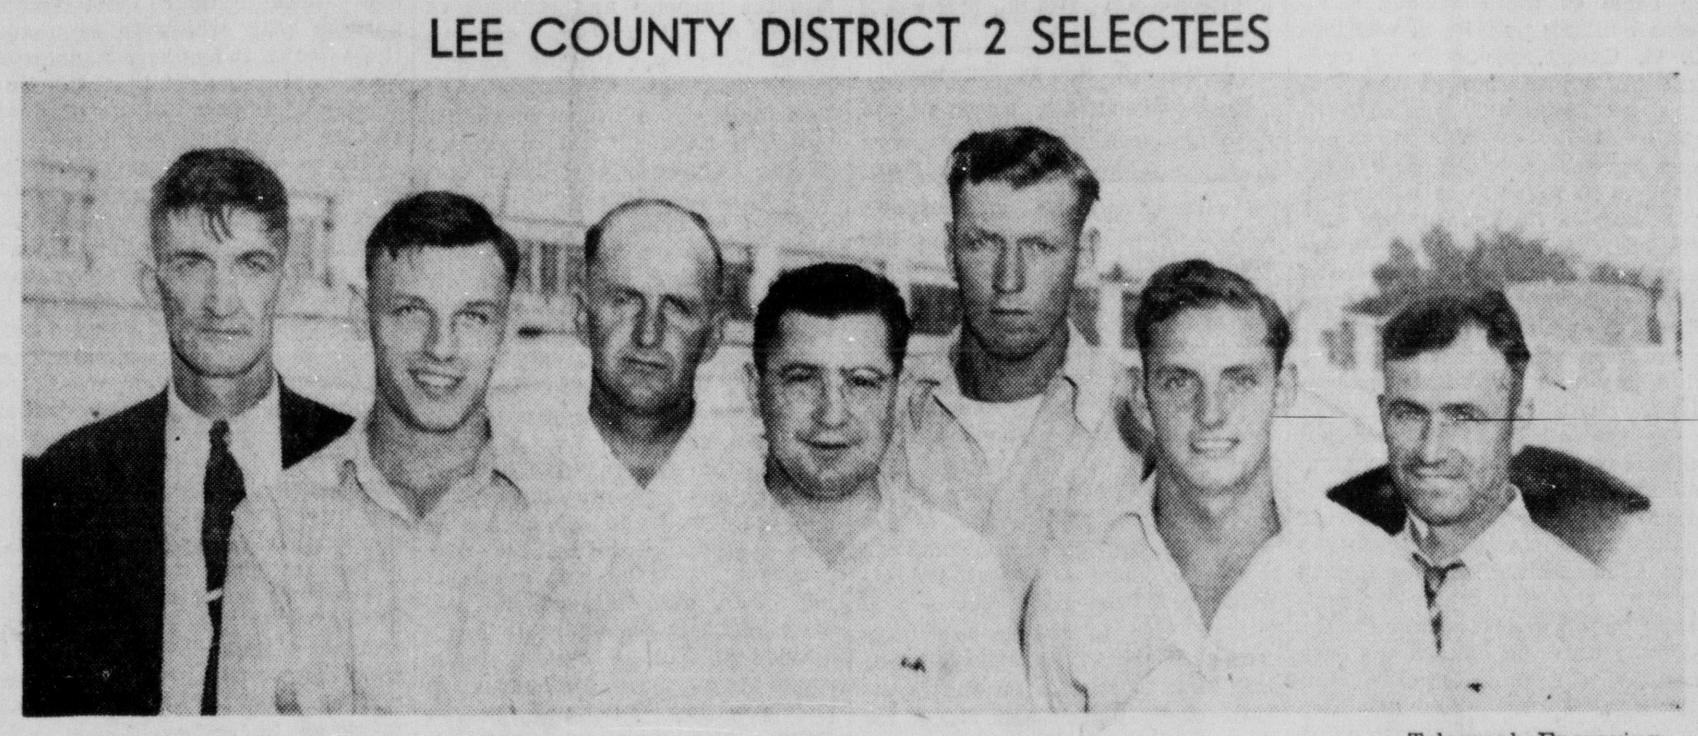

Within a thousand yards the skipper carefully trimmed his position and fired. The jolt of the torpedo's launchings ran through the ship and the crew, the blindest and most blindly faithful of all seagoing men, knew by that that they were in a fight.

A second shock, deeper and stronger, came back to the sub a few seconds later. Only the skipper at the periscope saw a geyser rise out of the ocean and the destroyer ripped in two by the unsuspected fury of TNT. It went down like a rock while progressive smaller explosions echoed to the tense sub crew.

Fast and Furious

The first ship was still breaking while the stupefied crews stared from the others when a tin

Jury Will Decide Amboy Road Dispute

A special jury in the county court will be called to decide the issue in a dispute over a road in Amboy township, which reached a heated stage several days ago.

Harold Walker, who is charged in two informations filed before Judge Grover Gehant, appeared in court this morning with his counsel, Attorney Edward Sullivan of Amboy, and requested a jury hearing. The case has been set for trial beginning at 9 o'clock Monday, Aug. 10.

Walker is charged in the informations with threatening Township Highway Commissioner James Morrissey with a shot gun on two occasions. The road in question is located south of Amboy and was closed some weeks ago, following the circulation of a petition. Later the road was reopened by similar action and it was at this time that the dispute arose.

LEE COUNTY DISTRICT 2 SELECTEES

Big Issue Facing GOP Platform Is Post-War America

Many Party Leaders Are Opposed to Making Commitments

Springfield, Ill., July 28.—(AP)—America's post-war commitments loomed today as a principal issue facing Illinois Republican leaders after Hill Blackett, former Republican national committeeman, and State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield proposed that the G. O. P. state platform take a firm stand against the making of peace plan pledges until the war is won.

Opposition to post-war planning before the war ends was expressed yesterday afternoon at the first hearing conducted to gather material for the party platform to be adopted at the state convention on Aug. 20.

Proposals to repeal the state aid to dependent children's law and to incorporate labor unions raised the only disputes of the four-hour session. A second hearing will be held Aug. 6 in Chicago.

Senator Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, chairman of the pre-convention platform committee, said he was "very much impressed" when Blackett declared that the decision on America's role in the post-war world should be left to the party in power when the war ends.

"One of the reasons why we're back in a world war is that we found out at the peace table in 1918 that some of the allies had made secret treaties over division of the spoils," Blackett said. "The people want no commitments from our government now as to what we will do after the war."

No Reference to Willkie

Blackett, who has sided with Wendell Willkie in opposing isolationism in the past, made no reference to the 1940 presidential nominee's recent suggestion that the state platform include a clear-cut statement opposing a return to isolationism after the war, nor was Willkie mentioned by other speakers.

Senator Searcy also urged a ban on post-war pledges, declaring that "America's decision as to a course after the war should be left until we have put all of our efforts into winning the present struggle."

Blackett also proposed that the state platform oppose reciprocal trade treaties, which he contended would "bring in cheap meat and grain to put the American farmer out of business," and urged that Republicans demand a prompt solution to the rubber shortage problem.

Senator Benson, who was expected to head the committee that actually drafts the G. O. P. platform, said the declaration of principles would pledge 100 per cent support of the war program and added the principal issue would be the extent of America's post-war obligations.

"If it's a matter of staying on the job after the war to protect America's interests and the billions of dollars we are spending, I assume that everyone would be in favor of it," he added. "The question is how far should we go?"

O'Neill Has Short Proposal

The shortest platform proposal came from Rep. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, who said:

"I think that a pledge to reject Wayland Brooks as U. S. senator is enough of a platform for the party."

Senator T. MacDowning of Macomb started lengthy arguments when he urged repeal of the aid to dependent children's law and

401 Ships Sunk by Enemy Subs Off U. S. Coasts

By The Associated Press

The toll of merchant shipping sunk by enemy submarines on the very doorstep of the Americas has topped the 400-mark and the western Atlantic has become the grave of more than 2,000 seamen and passengers since Pearl Harbor.

Figures tabulated by the Associated Press as the announced or reported wartime sinkings in those waters reached 401 showed that at least 1,620 more crewmen or passengers were missing after attacks by the undersea raiders while 11,766 persons have been rescued.

For the 400th acknowledged victim, a U-boat chose the smallest fry in the 233 days of their preying on allied or neutral shipping off American shores—a 16-ton onion boat just out of Havana. The sub's crew, apparently running out of rations, helped itself to 40,000 pounds of onions, canned goods and a quantity of diesel oil from the vessel.

The Mexican government also announced the sinking Sunday morning in the Gulf of Mexico of the Mexican freighter Oaxaca, for the fifth Mexican victim of the war and the 401st on the grand total of allied or neutral ships destroyed.

The state department last night announced a project expected to cut the number of sinkings in the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

In cooperation with the United States, the department said, the central American republics of Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama have agreed on the construction of an emergency overland route from this country to the Panama Canal.

Ben Berve Serves Highway Division

Springfield, Ill., July 28.—(AP)—Ben L. Berve of Rochelle, Republican state committee chairman who resigned a $4,300 state job last February to campaign for Senator C. Wayland Brooks, is back on the state payroll.

Berve said that he had been employed since May 1 as an assistant engineer in the Peoria district of the state highway division. His salary is $3,600 a year.

Public Works Director, Walter A. Rosenfield said that Berve's job as an engineer's assistant was to investigate personnel complaints.

"We get some anonymous communications about state employees who are not courteous, for example, or who are charged with driving state automobiles on their own time," Rosenfield said. "Berve's job is to investigate those complaints and it keeps him on the road a great deal of the time. The job requires tact."

No engineering experience is necessary, he added. Berve is a Rochelle insurance broker.

Supreme Court to Test Roosevelt's Wartime Powers

Hold Special Term to Check on Legality of Spy Trial

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—A possibility that President Roosevelt's wartime powers might be tested by the United States Supreme Court arose today as the nation's highest tribunal interrupted its summer recess to determine whether any of the alleged Nazi saboteurs on trial before a secret military commission are entitled to the processes prescribed by the bill of rights.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone announced through the court clerk that a special term would be held tomorrow so that counsel for "certain of" the prisoners may apply for habeas corpus writs. If the court should decide to entertain the petitions, and then grant them, the case might be transferred to a federal district court.

In appointing a military commission to try the eight suspects secretly "for offenses against the law of war and the articles of war," President Roosevelt issued a proclamation denying any appeal to civil courts by persons who have entered the country since the war for the purpose of committing hostile acts against the government.

Informed persons, who with-

28 French Executed by Germans at Lille

Vichy, July 28.—(AP)—The Germans announced today the execution of 28 persons at Lille on conviction of a series of offenses, including sabotage, possession of weapons and communistic activity.

Most of those condemned were mine workers in the Lille region.

French courts at Douai, a suburb of Lille, sentenced two persons to life in prison for stealing ration cards, and 28 others to a total of 40 years in prison. Most of them also were mine's.

Delayed advices from Courtrai, also in the Lille region, said an unspecified but considerable number of persons had been arrested as hostages after five fires were started in one night.

The German announcement declared that a number of persons were arrested "for sympathy" and that radios and bicycles were being confiscated.

The German command in Belgium announced the assessment of a fine of 5,000,000 Belgian francs against the city of Brussels for attacks on Belgian movements "sincerely collaborating with Germans."

It also announced that 50 Belgian hostages would be deported, presumably to Polish work camps.

Japanese Routed in Kiangshan Fighting

Chungking, July 28.—(AP)—The Chinese high command announced today the Japanese had been routed in heavy fighting near the Kiangsi border.

Fighting is continuing around Kwangfeng in eastern Kiangsi, the Chinese having repulsed a Japanese attempt to dislodge them from a hilltop, a communique said.

In Honan province, farther north, the Chinese "hurled back several enemy attacks near Singyang and inflicted heavy losses," it added, while in Hupeh province the Japanese were being held in check as they attempted to dislodge Chinese forces from foothills of the Tachung mountains.

Germans Now Are Half Way to Goal of Rich Oil Field

German Dead Piled in Hills as Russians Fight a Retreat

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted today that German troops, advancing within 50 miles of Stalingrad, had "reached or crossed the lower Don at all points south of Kalach, and Soviet dispatches frankly conceded that it was the gravest moment of the entire war.

Kalach is on the east bank of the Don where it curves nearest to the Volga, 50 miles west of Stalingrad.

Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, declared ominously that the pressure was becoming "more and more difficult" to meet, while other Soviet newspapers hinted anew at a need for opening an allied second front in Europe.

The Russians acknowledged the fall of Rostov, described by the Germans as the "spigot of the Russian oil barrel," and also Novocherkassk, 20 miles northeast of Rostov.

London military quarters said the Nazis, throwing probably 625,000 troops into the assault, had been slowed somewhat after suffering heavy losses. These quarters said that the Russian armies were mostly intact but that German reserves were believed to be considerable.

On the north flank, in the bloody Voronezh sector, the Germans were described as "definitely on the defensive."

Nazi military quarters asserted that German infantry and mechanized forces had swept across the Don river on a broad front east of Rostov and reached the Mamyh and Sal rivers at several points.

The Mamyh river forms an arc thrusting southeastward from Rostov-on-Don into the northern Caucasus, while the Sal stretches almost due eastward from Novocherkassk.

If true, the Nazi claim would indicate that Adolf Hitler's legions were racing headlong across the northern Caucasus toward Astrakhan, on the Caspian sea, and also turning southward into the Caucasus itself.

Soviet dispatches said Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies, although forced to yield at Rostov and Novocherkassk, had beaten off a series of German tank and motorized infantry attacks at the big bend of the Don river before Stalingrad.

Soviet reports said thousands of Nazi dead littered the banks of the Don or floated seaward with the wreckage of pontoons smashed by Russian shells and bombs as the invaders attempted to enlarge bridgeheads across the river between Rostov and Stalingrad.

Halfway to Goal

The newspapers stressed the gravity of the loss of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus oil treasures, and it was acknowledged that the invaders were now half-way toward their goal of isolating the trans-Caucasus with its riches in oil, wheat, metals and timber.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, pointedly declared that the Germans had withdrawn 11 divisions from France to effect the break through, thereby weakening Nazi defenses along the English channel "invasion" coast.

Simultaneously, the Berlin radio reflected German fears of an allied invasion with the announcement that Field Marshal Gen. Karl Gerd von Rundstedt had spent the past few days inspecting "the extensive and deeply echeloned front."

Nazis Lose 8 Planes in Birmingham Attack

London, July 28.—(AP)—Birmingham, big British industrial center in the midlands, was bombed last night in an attack which cost the Germans eight out of 50 to 70 raiders, and incendiaries fell in the greater London district which had its first night alarm since June 3.

A ninth German bomber was reported shot down this morning off the southwest coast.

"Enemy action last night was on a somewhat larger scale than for some time past," a communique said. "Fires and damage were caused in the Birmingham area where there also were a number of casualties."

Scattered bombings caused some damage elsewhere through the midlands and eastern counties. The RAF's bombers, which Sunday night pummeled the German port of Hamburg in a 600-plane assault, stayed home last night.

Midwest Youths to Have Part in Market Hog Show

To Be Held at Chicago Stock Yards on Sept. 17

Chicago, July 28.—Midwest farm youths will take part in a Market Hog Show and Sale that will be held at the Chicago Stock Yards on Thursday, Sept. 17. The competition will be open to any 4-H or Vocational Agricultural Club boy or girl.

According to the management, it is required that all hogs exhibited in this show must be part of a home supervised program subject to the approval of local farm advisors or vocational agricultural instructors.

Cash prizes totaling $332.00 will be offered for the contest by its sponsors, the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company, operators of the Chicago market.

Additional cash special awards will be made by several of the swine registry associations, including the American Poland China Record Association, the United Duroc Record Association, the Hampshire Swine Registry, the O. I. C. Swine Breeders Association, and the American Berkshire Association.

Prizes by Pillsbury
The exhibitor of the champion individual barrow will receive a silver trophy, presented by Philip W. Pillsbury, who will also award a $10.00 cash prize to the boy or girl exhibiting the best pen of three hogs.

The hogs will be shown in nine classes, arranged by weights. The weight classes consist of three in each division as follows: barrows or gilts weighing from 200 to 220 pounds, from 220 to 240 pounds, and from 240 to 270 pounds. The three divisions comprise individual barrows, pens of three, and pens of five.

Prizes will be awarded down to 12th place in both the single and pen of three divisions.

Premium lists, giving full details, may be obtained by addressing John T. Caine III, Union Stock Yards, Chicago. According to Mr. Caine, entries may be made up to September 10.

The Chicago Junior Market Hog Show and Sale will be held in cooperation with an advisory committee consisting of M. A. Tomlin, vocational agricultural leader, Springfield, Ill.; E. I. Pilchard, Illinois director of 4-H Club work, Urbana; John Quist, 4-H club leader, Iowa State College, Ames; and John S. Campbell, U. S. D. A., Union Stock Yards, Chicago.

Right Bait Halts Ant Army Invading Pantry Territory

Urbana, Ill.—If an army of ants is running a food supply line from the pantry to their hide-away, the best counter-attack is to determine what species is doing the attacking and lay down the proper bait.

Those are the tactics suggested by B. G. Berger, assistant entomologist of the State Natural History Survey.

Pharaoh's ant, a small reddish-orange insect, is a year-around threat in Illinois homes, often showing up near the sink or water-tap. It will get into any type of food but seems particularly attracted to fats and meats. Its encampment may be anywhere in the house. Poisoning with a thallium sulfate mixture is the best antidote to wipe out the colony. Placed in envelopes attached to the wall or in tiny bottle caps near the ant supply line, the bait soon attracts the invaders. Chief precaution to remember is that the bait is a poison and should not be left where children or pets can find it.

Made up in large enough quantity to meet several invasions, the recipe requires 2 grams of thallium sulfate (carefully weighed by the druggist) dissolved in 1/2 pint of lukewarm water. In a separate container, 1/2 pint of water, 1 pound of granulated sugar, 3 ounces of strained honey and 3 tablespoons of glycerin are mixed together, brought to the boiling point and then cooled slightly. Then the thallium sulfate solution is added.

Thief ants, which closely resemble Pharaoh's ant, are tiny and feed almost entirely on greasy material. They nest out of doors but enter the house in search of food. One check is to dust sodium fluoride at the points where they enter the house. Another check is to mix 1 part of tartar emetic with 9 parts of lard or bacon grease. This is a poison, however, and should be used with discretion when children or pets are around.

One large black ant, the carpenter ant, is known to be present in trees and timbers near the home but usually does not enter the house. When it does, the poison bait advocated for Pharaoh's ant will control it.

Farm Building Rules Cleared Up by Engineer

Urbana, Ill., July 28.—To clear up some of the confusion about farm building permits in wartime, D. G. Carter, professor of agricultural engineering at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, today explained that rulings have been modified in some respects to favor farm building.

Among the limiting factors, only the scarcity of materials is serious. This situation has virtually eliminated new residential construction and the purchase of major equipment, such as heating, plumbing and electrical installations.

On the other hand there are some advantages insofar as farm buildings are concerned. For example there is no limit on the manufacture of wooden bins; 2,500 tons of nails have been authorized recently for the repair or construction of grain storages; the freezing order on lumber has been modified for farm storage construction, and a method has been provided to issue authorization and priorities to replace farm construction destroyed by fire, flood, earthquake and the enemy.

The conservation order relating to this type of building does not prohibit normal repairs, residential work up to an estimated cost of $500, or needed agricultural construction up to $1000. Under this order it is possible for any farm to spend $1,500 or more in one year for buildings, if the materials can be secured. This is 20 times the average amount spent a year on each farm during the past 20 years. The permitted construction exceeds in amount the average value of all buildings per farm in 10 or 15 states.

Shoe Production Feels Real Pinch on Leather Goods

Urbana, Ill.—Not because the shoes pinch, but because there's a pinch on shoe production, the family is going to have to watch its step and get more footage out of each pair of shoes, says Miss Florence King, assistant professor of home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

In the first six months of this year, the army alone bought 16 1/2 million pairs of shoes. This number amplified by the requirements from other branches of the service, plus lend-lease requirements, doesn't leave much for other citizens, Miss King pointed out. It's a case of being satisfied with fewer pairs of shoes, with shoes of less extreme style which can be used for different occasions and of taking care of shoes which might ordinarily be discarded at the first sign of shoddiness.

Shoes which become wet should be stuffed with paper, their counters pressed together to straighten them, the shoes rubbed with a light oil and then allowed to dry at room temperature. Any oil which does not contain paraffin or turpentine will do. To be cleaned, shoes are first stuffed with paper, then washed with a thick, mild soap suds with as little water as possible. The suds are wiped off with a dry cloth and a grease polish applied. This is rubbed well into the leather and polished with a lintless cloth and plenty of friction.

Similar care may be applied to luggage, handbags, wallets, key cases and belts. It's a case of going through the closets and storage places to bring out all leather goods which have been partly worn and which are soiled, battered and covered with dust, Miss King said. Cleaned up, they will look surprisingly fresh. Good leather duplicates will not be prevalent for some time to come.

As a hopeful note to persons going shopping for leather goods, Miss King points out that the Federal Trade Commission has issued rules requiring manufacturers to label leather goods, naming the animal that produced the hide and stating whether it is top grain or "split" leather. She says to beware of the label "genuine leather" for it indicates nothing as to quality of the hide.

Farm WAR NEWS

Storage Problems Increase

Each day grain storage and shipping problems become more acute. Terminal elevators are filled with carryovers of corn and wheat. In wheat areas many unused buildings including school houses are turned into storage places for grain. Lee county does not have the wheat storage problem, but does face a shortage for harvested soybeans. Farmers of this locality have responded most gratifyingly to the request for more soybeans to replace vegetable oils lost as a result of the war. But the job is not complete until the beans are marketed efficiently. Processing plants will not be able to handle the huge crop at harvest time. These beans will have to remain on the farms until other places are ready for them.

Wooden bins offered by the government are helping many farmers solve their storage problem. In 30 counties, orders have been placed for a total of about 500 pre-fabricated or pre-cut bins. In any counties where these bins are still available it will be "first come first served." The bins vary in size and construction and all information concerning them can be obtained at the local Triple-A offices. Past results of grain storage should convince farmers that soybeans can be stored as well as corn and wheat, as long as moisture content is low. Arranging for additional grain storage space on the farm should be done at once.

Parity Based on 174 Items

The prices farmers pay on 174 items in farm production and living costs are used as a basis in determining parity. Eighty-six items are used in living, and 88 are used in production.

Rations in Germany Reduced

Since April 6, 1942, weekly food rations have been reduced in Germany. The normal consumer now gets 2,000 grams of bread and cereal a week instead of 2,600. The meat ration has been cut from 500 grams to 400 grams and now to 300 grams. The sugar ration now is 225 grams instead of 250. Fats and oils are cut from 268 to 206 grams. Only invalids, the sick, expectant mothers and children can get milk.

Jap Food Situation Favorable

Japan has no surpluses but does not depend on food from outside of colonies. Main foods are rice, grains, legumes, root and fruit crops and fish. The government handles food distribution. Rice, their staple food, is plentiful. Japan raises 80 per cent of its own needs and 99 per cent is produced in its own empire. She is self-sufficient in wheat, barley and buckwheat, but imports 65 per cent of corn, a minor food, 30 per cent of their soybeans are raised at home and the rest from Manchuria and Chosen. Fish supplies are greater than needs.

Iron and Steel Limited

Manufacture of an additional list of civilian articles is prohibited by a WPB amendment to the iron and steel conservation order. Listed among items of interest to the farmers of the nation are: Barn pushers and scrapers; chicken house scrapers, garden trowels; harness and saddlery fittings (except for draft, work and ranch animals); railings, barriers, and fences (except livestock and poultry enclosures); water troughs.

Cordage Stocks to Be Acquired

Stocks of Manila cordage now frozen in the hands of owners may be acquired for military needs, WPB, in co-operation with RFC, will shortly inaugurate a nationwide campaign to such stocks at fair prices. Some 10 million pounds are estimated to be in the hands of retailers and wholesalers and this is critically needed for war purposes. Dealers are warned that unauthorized sales of Manila cordage constitute violations of priorities orders.

Millions for War Saved by Simple Machine Repairs

Urbana, Ill.—Millions of dollars for farmers and millions of gallons of fuel for war can be saved by simple tractor adjustments and repairs, producers of food-for-freedom were reminded today by agricultural engineers of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Some of these are the adjustment of the carburetor and governor, cleaning out clogged air cleaner, removing dirt from between the radiator fins, repairing magnets and grinding valves, according to E. W. Lehmann, head of the department, and H. P. Bateman, assistant.

Many farm machines are not used as many hours during the year as they could effectively be used, especially during the war program. This extra available use could take care of the machine and labor shortage in many areas. It will be necessary for some farmers owning harvesting and threshing machines to do more custom work as a patriotic duty.

In a recent circular prepared by the department of agricultural engineering, a table shows the number of acres of soybeans that can be harvested during a season for various sizes of combines and different lengths of harvesting periods. This table is helping hundreds of farmers make plans to get their crops harvested on time.

The engineers also recommend the training of more farm machine operators and repair men and the promotion of an accident and fire prevention program.

These factors and other necessary to the efficient carrying out of the wartime agricultural program are being stressed in the state-wide program of the extension service of the College of Agriculture, which is being carried to every farm family in the state through county farm and home advisers and township chairmen and school district leaders.

Winter Vegetable Storage Subject of New Circular

Urbana, Ill.—Although most vegetables aren't winter-tored until almost winter, it's time now to plan for storage spaces for food-for-freedom.

A big help to many families in storing vegetables for winter use this year will be a new circular, No. 530, on "Winter Vegetable Storage," which has just been issued by the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture. B. L. Weaver, associate in vegetable crops, is the author.

Beets, cabbage, carrots, turnips, and winter radishes for winter storage should come from late plantings. With recommended late planting dates for southern Illinois two weeks earlier and for northern Illinois two weeks later, the following planting dates are recommended for vegetables which are to be winter-stored:

Beets, July 10; cabbage, June 10; carrots, May 15; celery, June 1; Chinese cabbage, July 15; endive, July 10; horseradish, April 1; kale, July 10; kohlrabi, August 1; leeks, April 15; onions, April 1; parsnips, April 15; peppers, May 10; popcorn, May 1; potatoes, June 1; pumpkins, May 15; salsify, April 15; squash, May 15; sweet potatoes, May 15; tomatoes, May 10; turnips, August 1, and winter radish, August 1.

Unheated basements, because they are usually damp and cool, are often ideal storage places for root crops, potatoes and leafy vegetables. Storage in heated basements is practical, cheap, convenient and usually satisfactory if a cool, well-ventilated storeroom 6 by 6 feet or larger is partitioned off from a corner of a basement. Other satisfactory storage spaces are garages, outdoor pits, sunken barrels, outdoor underground cellars and above-ground storerooms.

Copies of the publication may be obtained free from farm and home advisers or university.

PRESIDENTIAL SMOKERS

Approximately one-half of the presidents of the United States were smokers. Like Franklin D. Roosevelt, some preferred cigars, while others, like U. S. Grant, strongly favored cigars.

Vaccination of Flock for Fowl Pox Recommended

Urbana, Ill., July 28.—As soldiers are immunized against diseases, so are poultry and other farm animals.

As an additional war emergency measure, Illinois poultrymen are receiving supplies of fowl pox vaccine through their local veterinarians with which to immunize their flocks, it has been announced by animal pathologists of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The vaccine is a preventive and not a cure, and it is recommended that the birds be immunized before they go into laying houses this fall. Fowl pox usually causes the most damage in winter.

The vaccine should be used only in flocks where the disease has previously occurred or where infection seems imminent. Immunity, once established, is good indefinitely. However, early immunization is preferred because of the reaction which may follow vaccination in laying flocks, the animal pathologists said.

Fowl pox is turkeys can also be prevented by vaccination, and the animal pathology department is supplying veterinarians with fowl pox vaccine for demonstration purposes in turkey flocks. One week following vaccination, flocks are inspected for takes and the results reported on forms supplied with the vaccine. Only the three-stick method is used against fowl pox in turkeys, the pathologists said.

Lee County Cattle Are High Sellers

As representatives of the Ogle County Home Bureau, Mrs. Kenneth Clark, Lindenwood, and Mrs. E. G. Dunne, Ashton, spent the week of July 14 to 19 at Eureka college, participating in discussions and programs bearing on the theme, "The Home Should Be the Center of Every Woman's Interest But Not the Circumference." Mrs. Clark is state health chairman of the Illinois Federation of Home Bureaus while Mrs. Dunne represented the Ogle County Home Bureau Executive Board.

Shifted from the Springfield state fair grounds to Eureka college, the conference was jointly sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Home Bureaus and the home economics extension service of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. 150 rural women leaders from 74 home bureau counties of Illinois attended.

As in past years, the purpose of the conference was to help homemakers become increasingly aware of their responsibilities as citizens in a republic, said Mrs. Kathryn Van Aken Burns, state leader of home economics extension work. Returning to Illinois to lead the delegates in a series of recent wartime developments, was Carl F. Taeusch, chief of the division of program and discussion, of the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Women discussion leaders were trained.

These members were chosen on the basis of merit in last year's 4-H club work to receive the honor of representing the county at the state leadership training camp.

The program consisted of instruction in club activities, handicraft, song leading, recreation and subjects designed to assist these young people in becoming more efficient leaders in 4-H and rural youth work.

Six clubs were represented in the Ogle contest, and the Pine Creek Valley club was second. Farm Adviser H. E. Warren was assisted by agriculture teachers from Rochelle, Oregon and Byron

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

"More chickens starve to death than die of disease," the American Veterinary Medical Association reports.

The veterinarians aren't peddling any pink pills for poultry—only a few poultry diseases, they say, can be prevented or controlled by specific drugs. But most of them can be prevented simply by keeping things clean and keeping the birds well fed.

We're inclined to be annoyed, I think, when anyone tells us frankly that most of our troubles are caused by our own carelessness. When our chickens get sick we prefer to believe it's "bad luck" and that the remedy can be bought in a bottle. We're still back in the days of the "medicine man," with his cure-alls, when it comes to treating poultry diseases.

But this is no time to kid ourselves.

We've got to keep these hens alive and laying if we're going to get all the eggs we need. And if we've got to clean up the place and "set a better table" for these birds in order to do it, then today is the time to begin.

More Feeders Needed

It's not unusual for a flock of 300 high-producing heavy breed hens to clean up over 300 pounds of feed a day—almost twice as much as we used to think they needed.

Do everything you can to get your hens to eat more. Putting in more feeders will probably help as much as anything else. You need at least three 5-foot feeders or two 8-foot feeders for a hundred hens. And for 200 hens you need TWICE that many. (How many hens do you have—and how many feeders?)

If you don't have as many feeders as you need (be honest with yourself!), put in some more. You'll be surprised at how many more eggs you'll get. The extra eggs will pay for the feeders in a few weeks and your whole flock will be better fed.

Houses Should Be Clean

"Sanitation," which we hear so much about, is nothing more than common ordinary cleanliness.

Too often we close our eyes to the dirt instead of cleaning it out. Nine times out of 10, when I've stopped to see people's chickens, they have apologized on the way out to the poultry house because it needs cleaning. Nine times out of 10—and I'm not exaggerating.

In one breath people tell me how the house needs cleaning and in the next breath they tell me, in a discouraged tone of voice, that they seem to be "losing so many hens."

But they never seem to see any connection between the two. (Or is it only that they won't admit it, because if they did they'd have to clean the poultry house?)

Most people have a pretty good idea, I think, of how they ought to raise chickens. Now the veterinarians tell us if we'll just raise them that way we'll have no trouble in meeting the government's request for increased egg production. It's up to us!

Lee County Farm Bureau News Notes

Chicago—Lee county cattle were among the high sellers of the past week's trade at the Chicago Stock Yards.

Paul Harris, well known farmer and stockman of this county, was represented on the Thursday market by a drove of steers of his own feeding that were good enough to sell at $14.65 per cwt. They averaged 1126 pounds per head.

Studies Reveal New Wheats Are Hurt by Mosaic

Urbana, Ill., July 28.—Discoveries this season that some new varieties of wheat being introduced in Illinois are extremely susceptible to wheat mosaic disease have prompted plant disease specialists of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture to warn farmers to select resistant varieties for planting this fall.

Some of the newer varieties that are greatly reduced in yield by mosaic disease, as proved in recent tests by the college, are Purdue No. 1, Illinois No. 2, Tenmarq and Clarkan. It has been found this year that Red Chief, a new variety from Kansas, is also susceptible. Cheyenne and Purkof are slightly more resistant, but are not recommended. Because some of these newer varieties have done unusually well on non-infected soil, there is danger that they will come into wider use.

Fortunately some varieties are very resistant to infection, according to Benjamin Koehler and O. T. Bonnett, agronomists of the college. For the south central Illinois section, resistant varieties are Fulcaster, Nabob, Fulhiu, Wabash and Thorne. For the central section Wisconsin 2, Ilred, Brill, Nabob and Duffy are recommended.

A vigorous breeding program for better mosaic-resistant varieties for the central and north central areas is in progress. It is expected that new superior wheats can be released within a few years.

The infection that causes the disease is a virus which persists in the soil. Some of the soil in 33 counties of Illinois is known to be infected. These counties are roughly in a belt across the central and south central part of the state.

37,000,000 Lbs. of Pork for AMA by Illinois

Urbana, Ill., July 28.—Almost 37,000,000 pounds of pork meat products were among the purchases made by the Agricultural Marketing Administration in Illinois markets from June 16 through June 30, according to a report to the University of Illinois College of Agriculture by James C. Hobart, AMA state supervisor.

During this same period the purchasing agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture also bought 98,340 bundles of hog casings and 7,199,728 pounds of lard for shipment to United Nations and domestic distribution programs from Chicago, East St. Louis and National Stock Yards, according to the report.

Other purchases included 1,239,500 pounds of American cheese, 245,000 cases of evaporated milk, 148,000 pounds of dry skim milk, 16,400 pounds of soy flour, 1,800,000 pounds of biscuits, 31,200 pounds of lard, powder, 1,250 cases of canned beans, 30,000 pounds of dried albumen and 2,031,800 pounds of dried eggs. The dried eggs are the equivalent of more than 6,093,000 dozen of shell eggs.

All purchases were said to be at prices which give midwestern farmers an adequate market for their products.

One hundred and fifty different strains of black stem rust have been identified in wheat.

dust off these PESTS with your DOLLARS

It takes lead sprayed from machine guns and bombers to exterminate these horrid pests. Combating international pests is not cheap—no war is. Your dollars are vitally needed to help Uncle Sam do a thorough job.

If American farmers buy their proportionate share of WAR BONDS, they alone can finance 30,000 fighter planes this year. Think what a crop-dusting job an air fleet like that could do!

Allis-Chalmers believes: That WAR BONDS are today's best and safest farm investment. That American farmers, by buying WAR BONDS every market day, can make total victory the climax to total war.

The quickest and surest way to achieve it is for farmers themselves to take the leadership. That is the aim of the "Win-the-War Bond Contest," sponsored by Allis-Chalmers in cooperation with the U. S. Treasury Department.

Joseph Kavolus to Claim Bride in Louisville

From Louisville, Ky., comes news of the approaching marriage of Miss Edna Marie Redle, daughter of the H. F. Redles of 1701 Eastern Pkwy., Louisville, to Joseph J. Kavolus of Racine, Wis., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick F. Kavolus of Kewanee, Ill. Unless "Joe" is unable to obtain leave from his work as auditor with the war department at a tank factory in Racine, the couple plan to be married on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

The announcement is of interest here, because a number of Dixonites knew the bridegroom-to-be as an employee of the Arthur Anderson Accountants of Chicago, having audited at the Illinois Northern Utilities company here since 1936, and because a former Dixon young woman, Mrs. W. Taylor Carter (Elsie Tayman), and Mr. Carter will be attending the wedding and the breakfast that is to follow the ceremony.

The couple met at the office of the Louisville Gas and Electric Service, where Mr. Kavolus has audited since 1939, and where Miss Redle (known to her friends as "Eddie"), has been employed. She Academy in Louisville, and her fiancée was graduated from the University of Illinois.

—WE, THE WOMEN— WHERE DO YOU GET THAT "JUST A PRIVATE" STUFF?

By RUTH MILLETT

There is no place for snobbishness in war time. And yet there is plenty of it around.

The civilian population falls all over itself to be friendly and helpful to officers. The sight of an officer's uniform has the magic of a good address, expensive clothes, or "fine old family." Everybody is impressed by officers.

But the men who are giving up more than anyone else, the fellows who aren't yet officers and likely never will be, aren't getting the respect, courtesy, and gratitude due them from a great many civilians.

You even hear the phrase "just a private." He's "just a private" the girl who is dating one says apologetically. "He's just a private" a mother feels called on to explain to a snobbish friend.

Privates Will Do the Fighting

Where do they get that "just a private" stuff? What is at the bottom of all this civilian snobbishness toward men in the service?

Well, part of it is the fact that so many of the men who are well known to the public, movie stars, athletes, writers, politicians are asking for commissions—and getting them whether they deserve them or not.

Nobody who considers himself anybody (with a few outstanding exceptions, of course) wants to go into the Army as a private.

So just about everybody you ever heard of goes into the service with a commission. And the civilians take their cue from that.

The men who are giving up most and who are going to have the toughest time in this war, the men we should make heroes of, aren't getting their due from civilians.

That is not only snobbish, it's ungrateful. So let's not have any more "just a private" talk. The "just a private" guys are going to win the war, and the people whose homes they are fighting to preserve ought to treat them with sincere admiration and respect. If there is going to be any "just a—" talk, let's say "Just a civilian."

Miss Hazel Rhodes Becomes Bride of Sgt. Ray Boyenga

Mrs. Nellie Rhodes of 409 North Ottawa is making known the marriage of her youngest daughter, Miss Hazel E. Rhodes, to Sgt. Ray Boyenga, formerly of Ashton, now of Presidio, Monterey, Calif. The couple pledged their nuptial vows Friday, July 24, at the parsonage of the Christian church in Lancaster, Mo., with the Rev. T. N. Walton officiating.

The bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Boyenga of Waterloo, Iowa, drew the couple. After the ceremony, the couple left for Iowa Falls, Alton, Sheffield and other points, to visit relatives.

The bride chose a British tan ensemble with matching accessories for her wedding attire. She has returned to Dixon, where she has been employed as bookkeeper in the commercial department of the Dixon Home Telephone company since soon after her graduation from Dixon high school in 1934.

Sergeant Boyenga has been stationed at Monterey, since his enlistment two years ago.

Weaver-Uhe Vows Are Solemnized at Freeport Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Uhe, 1015 South Maple avenue, Freeport, was the scene of a late-July wedding Sunday evening, when their elder daughter, Fern, became the bride of Chester Weaver, son of the Charles Weavers of Polo. The Rev. George J. Curran, pastor of the English Lutheran church, read the double ring ceremony assemblage of relatives and small assemblage of relatives and friends.

Palms, ferns, white phlox and gladioli screened the improvised altar for the ceremony.

The bride, wearing a floor-length gown of white silk jersey, entered the living room with her father. Her gown was fashioned with long bishop sleeves and a draped bodice, and her tulle veil was held in place with a tangle of taffeta flowers. Her arm bouquet contained white roses and asperula.

Mrs. Charles Rutter, as matron of honor, was dressed in aquamarine brocade taffeta, and she carried pink roses with gypsophylla. Two roses were worn in her hair. Lester Weaver of Polo served as best man.

The bride's mother was attired in blue and white, accented by a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Weaver chose a navy blue ensemble, with a shoulder bouquet of pink rosebuds.

A buffet supper followed the ceremony. Pink and white flowers and candles and a four-tiered cake decorated the bride's table.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver left on a brief wedding trip. For traveling, the bride chose a pink ensemble with brown accessories, and a corsage of pink flowers.

Mrs. Weaver was graduated from Freeport high school, and has been employed by the Freeport Thrift company. The bridegroom, a graduate of Polo Community high school, is with the Green River Ordnance plant.

A Thought for Today

And what nation is there so great, that hath statutes and judgments so righteous as all this law, which I set before you this day?—Deuteronomy 4:8.

The law of heaven and earth is life for life.—Byron.

They Should Get Together

On the 27th day of June Capt. C. C. Poole, British army officer and M. P., was quoted by the Galveston, Tex., News as saying that enough supplies were lying idle on U. S. wharves, for lack of shipping space, to turn the tide of battle in the Middle East.

Captain Poole was on a tour of shipyards under sponsorship of the National Maritime Commission.
It is to be supposed that he spoke with authority.

On the 6th of July W. Averell Harriman, U. S.
lease-lend administrator, was quoted in the Chicago Journal of Commerce as saying that "there is no lack of ships presently to supply our needs on all allied fronts."

Admiral Vickers of the Maritime Commission has said officially that the United Nations, as a whole, still are losing ships faster than they are being replaced.

Obviously somebody is wrong. Who is it?

The preponderance of evidence is on the side of Captain Poole and Admiral Vickers. Yet Mr.
Harriman certainly occupies a position to know the truth, and there is no apparent reason for him to gloss over unpleasant facts.

Is it any wonder that the public is bewildered by such completely different stories, coming from presumably reliable experts?

We have a similar situation in connection with rubber. Elliot E. Simpson, counsel to a congress-sional committee, claims vehemently there is no rubber shortage—that if not a pound of natural rubber were imported and no pound of synthetic were manufactured, we could supply both military and civilian needs for five years from recapturable scrap.

Government officials, subordinate experts, private rubber interests agree almost 100 per cent that the rubber shortage is so serious that we might even lose the war because of it, unless we act speedily and mercilessly against wastage.

Simpson retorts that those who disagree with him are biased toward the big four companies of the rubber industry, who, he says, know there is no shortage and are seeking to preserve a monopoly
by frightening the public.

The rest of the rubber fraternity dismisses
Simpson as a victim of his own fancies.

Who is right? We must consider Simpson.

BANNERS FLYING

BY MARY RAYMOND

THE STORY: Christie Colton
becomes engaged to Bart Sanderson at a dance. Just as Bart tells her the wedding must wait until he joins the Air Force, Sanderson, a new girl in town, makes her appearance. Bart has met Sanderson on a train, told her of his intention of enlisting before he broke the news to Christie.
Christie's jealousy is heightened when she criticizes Sanderson for dancing a patriotic tune with her brother, and Bart defends the girl.

JAN FALLS IN LOVE

CHAPTER III

CHRISTIE had hoped she could win Bart over about the flying.
But though Bart had listened patiently to her arguments, there had never been a moment when he was near to yielding.

"I know you're good, Christie.
I saw you make that three-point landing in a stiffish wind. But maybe your luck wouldn't hold out. You might not know what to do in an emergency. I'd be worrying about you. I've got to have that promise, darling."

She couldn't be angry with Bart.
Besides, she wasn't doing all the sneaking. Bart was putting a brilliant future behind him for the time being. He wasn't asking her to give up something that would ever mean anything to the world.
She was just an ordinary flyer
who had soloed for the first time today.

"All right, Bart," Christie said.
"I'll stay out of the air. But when you're training, will you remember that I have some anxious moments, too?"

"I'll have a steady hand and head, now," Bart said. "You can count on it." He kissed her long and earnestly.

When the door had closed behind Bart, Christie went to her father's study. He was sitting behind his desk, which, in these days of the war emergency, was deep in papers.

"More home work," Christie scooped. "I won't have it! So this is why you skipped the dance."
"Your mother still refuses to believe the headlines," Christopher Colton said. "But I know what they're saying."

"You think the United States will get in?" Bart does, too. He's going to an air field. But that's not really what I came to tell you.
Some day, I'm going to have a sunny kitchen with little blue pots filled with yellow flowers on the window sill. . . . and a perfectly immaculate ice box and blue linoleum printed in neat little squares."

She stooped over and kissed
him. "You don't mind if I marry Bart some day, do you? I would, anyway, so you might as well be nice and agreeable about it."

wrong. If we don't, and he really is wrong, the penalty would be too great.
But how can the public know?
Why can't the experts get together, agree on the truth, and tell it?

Wellington to Marshall to MacArthur

The War Department has made public the text of a letter sent by the Duke of Wellington in 1810
to the then British secretary of state for war:

"I must remind your Lordship—for the last time
—that so long as I retain an independent position,
I shall see that no officer under my command is debarred by attending to the futile driveling of mere quill driving in your Lordship's office—from attending to his first duty—which is, and always has been, so to train the private men under his command that they may, without question, beat any force opposed to them in the field."

General Marshall suggested, in publicizing the letter, that our troop commanders in the field might feel as did the Iron Duke.

The inference, we hope and believe: America expects every field officer to use his head.

Bicycle Courts

A significant sign of the times is the increasing prevalence of bicycle courts conducted by youngsters to try offenders of their own age. These are reported from Dallas, Tex., Rochester, Minn.; Wilmette, Ill., and other cities.

Riding at night without lights, riding more than one on a bicycle, failure to observe stop signs are among the offenses for which punishment is meted out by boy judges. Safety studies, impounding of bicycles are among the punishments.

These boys and girls are learning the duties and privileges of citizenship and are being tutored in law abidance as their elders were not. They should become better citizens for this experience.

Deferment Publicity

Outraged by draft dodging under cover of faked dependencies, New York's Mayor LaGuardia wants the Selective Service Act amended so that the reason for all deferments will become public property.

We sympathize with the Little Flower's sentiment, and with reservations we believe such publicity is desirable.

But we do have reservations. We do not believe the full details of any man's personal economics should be offered to public curiosity until and unless he has been proven guilty of some crime. The size of one's mortgage, one's savings accounts, one's life insurance are the government's business, not the neighbors'. Some dependents are sensitive. Must the world be told of their hard luck?

What About Pearl Harbor?

The Navy Department's report on the Midway engagement is clear, as complete probably as in war it should be, and encouraging. Its contents, particularly the damage to the Yorktown, explain
why it was withheld so long.

Now how about as lucid a story on Pearl Harbor, which is rapidly receding to the historical antiquity of the War of the Roses? And how about a preliminary explanation of the mystery of the Aleutians? The weather story is true, but hardly satisfying. Do the Japs carry good weather for themselves which is bad weather for us, like one-way
glass?

Washington, July 28.—Labor personages have been running in and out of the White House for the past two weeks. With each one has emerged a new rumor, bearing an official flavor, of what President Roosevelt intends to do about rising wages.

First, it was virtually announced that he would send a message to Congress asking that both wages and prices be frozen. But visitors
Phil Murray and William Green, representing the one-sixth of the nation's workers who are in CIO
or AFL, protested such a course.

Later word relayed from the inside, suggested the president would order the freezing by executive decree without congressional action.

But at his last press conference,
while declining to say what steps
he would take to dissipate the rising spectre of inflation, he used a strange new phrase—"parity wages."

This ominous phrase seems already to have been adopted by the government as its wage policy (Leon Henderson dissenting.) Mr.
Roosevelt appears already to have worked out and applied his solution without announcement.

I understand the War Labor Board has followed up its Little Steel decision with the adoption of a 15 per cent wage increase yardstick measured back to January 1, 1941. That is, the board has decided the cost of living has gone up 15 per cent since that date, and therefore wages should be 15 percent higher.

In the case of Little Steel, the unions had already received a 10 percent increase last April (when Ernest Weir bolted the steel manufacturers and ordered a hike without warning.) Therefore, the board gave Little Steel an additional 5 percent increase this time, or 44 cents a day, to bring the total since January 1941 up to 15 percent.

The War Labor Board has suggested to the U. S. Conciliation Service, John R. Steelman, director, that it try to settle all wage issues on the same basis. If a union has had 15 percent increase, it is to get no more. If it has had 8 percent, presumably it is to have another 7 percent.

About half of the eight million organized workers in the country are supposed to have received their 15 percent increase already. Nearly all the others have received some increase.

This program is meat for Ma
Perkins, Murray and Green, the AFL and other laborites in the government, but has Mr. Henderson off his clothes and tossing them out the window.

No greater evidence that "parity wages" will not stop inflation, but will help to bring it about, could possibly be found than the fact Henderson is against it, and trying to stop it.

"Parity wages" is nothing but a nice excusing phrase for wage increases, which will cause price increases and eventually more wage increases. It has an old political ring.

The farmers concocted the phrase "parity farm prices," in order to keep prices continually going up. And when some of their prices finally reached parity a few months back, they moved their goal up to 110 percent of parity.
So it will be with such a wage program.

Mr. Henderson warned Sunday
that food prices were going up, meaning the cost of living is now on the way to higher levels.

When this happens, labor will come back again and ask for another increase, and the farmers will have to have a similar increase, and the whole vicious spiral of one helping the other to force both wages and prices into highly inflationary levels, will inevitably proceed.

Meanwhile the other 42,000,000 workers in the country whose economic welfare seems to be ignored in this government's managed war economy, will find all values of everything they own and earn shrinking as the spiral of ambitions of the unions and farmers forces prices into even higher ground.

Mr. Henderson is right, but there seems no prospect that he will win. His demand for the arbitrary freezing of all wages and prices at existing levels can gain little sympathy in Congress, which must face an election in November, or in the administration where the labor and farm groups are most highly respected.

Mr. Henderson has been trying to keep wages from forcing prices up by warning business men in private phone calls, correspondence and through the press, that any wage increases undertaken by employers without an order from the War Labor Board, will not be considered by him as a justification for price increases.

Mr. Henderson's attitude is complicating Mr. Steelman's conciliation service efforts to avoid strikes. Obviously employers are not going to enter Mr. Steelman's voluntary settlements, calling for any wage increases, until ordered

Barnhizer Reunion

So far in this war, the concilia-

ones have been sent up to the War

flicts in both wage and price pol-viously leading up to arbitrary freezing (as Bernard Baruch told them would be necessary from the able consequence can successfully be delayed until after the elec-politics.

MAIL ENTRY BLANKS NOW FOR EVENING TELEGRAPH TENNIS TOURNAMENT

DEFINITE DATES TO BE PUBLISHED AT LATER DATE

Ward Smith Will Defend Singles Title He Won in '40, '41

By ORTMAN
Any Dixon resident is eligible to compete in the seventh annual Evening Telegraph tennis tournament which this paper is sponsoring in conjunction with the Dixon tennis club. For your convenience an entry blank has been published at the bottom of this page. Mail it to the Evening Telegraph immediately.

As in the past there will be classes of men's singles and doubles, but for the first time in the history of the tournament, a women's singles class has been opened this year.

The originally published starting date of the tournament, Saturday, Aug. 8, may have to be changed as quite a few prospective entrants have complained that their work would not allow them to play on Saturdays.

If the change has to be made, play will be arranged so that all matches can be run off on Sundays. As it was originally planned, men's doubles preliminaries would be on Saturday Aug. 8; preliminaries of men's singles on the following Sunday; women would commence play on Saturday, Aug. 15 and all finals would be run off on Sunday, Aug. 16.

However, definite dates will be decided on and published as soon as possible. But even if you can't play on one of the above dates, send in the blanks anyway. The fifty cents entry fee should not be included with the blank as Ward Smith of the Dixon Tennis club will collect the fees after all blanks are in.

Awards have not yet been selected but there will be a prize for each class winner. Matches will be 2 out of 3 sets except in the finals where the winner must take 3 out of 5. Judges will be used only in the finals and all matches will be played at the high school courts except in the case that all games are played on Sundays. If that happens two courts might be utilized.

The Dixon Tennis club has not been as active as usual this year, mainly because the number of tournaments has been cut down and because its active membership has decreased. However, in June, Ted Mason, Ward Smith and Philip Reilly entered the Rock River Valley league tournament at Sterling. Having grown state from lack of competition, the boys were eliminated early. Mason and Smith were paired in the doubles and all three were in singles competition.

Ward Smith has announced that he will definitely be in the tournament this summer to defend the singles crown which he won in both 1940 and '41. He was also one-half of the winning doubles combination last year, his partner being George Covert who was also singles champ for the three years preceding Smith's ascendancy to the throne.

However, Covert has notified us that he will be unable to compete this year.

Ted Wallin was singles titlist in the first year of the tournament, 1936; Covert was champ in '37, '38 and '39; and Smith was No. 1 man in '40 and '41. The doubles class was inaugurated in 1940 when Covert and R. A. Joslyn topped the title. Last year it was Covert and Smith.

Further information may be had by contacting the Evening Telegraph or Ward Smith. Girls may call either Gertrude Wallin or Betty Witzleb if they wish.

Archie Rawls, who was one of the first tennis players in Dixon and very influential in the organizing of the local tennis club, was in Dixon Sunday and played a few friendly sets with some of the boys. Rawls now lives in Chicago and is a member of one of the tennis clubs there.

CUBS OFFERED TO WAR FUNDS

By NEA Service
Chicago, July 28.—Phil K. Vrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, is willing to let his entire organization go to work for the armed forces.

The chewing gum magnate has offered to turn the Cubs over to Army or Navy Relief for the remainder of the season.

The funds can keep all profits. Vrigley will make up any operating deficits.

It is believed unlikely that either of the service funds will take up the proposal.

Sports Poll

I would like to acknowledge the receipt of 110 votes for Don Miller and Gerald Ankeny which arrived after the voting deadline Sunday night. Eighty-five of the votes were from Florida, 80 of them coming from Marines at the aviation training station at Jacksonville, Fla. Twenty-five came from Amboy. Thank you. Although these votes did not count in the balloting, the spirit in which they were sent is appreciated.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., Wide World Sports Columnist
New York, July 28.—National leaguers, who can't easily forget what's been happening to them in the last few World Series and All-Star games, aren't losing a chance to rub it in how much better they're doing than the American league when it comes to raising money on Army-Navy Relief games. . . . One of them, who doesn't want to be quoted, claims that when Detroit set aside a Sunday game with Cleveland as its contribution, there was a meeting at Chicago at which the choice was "vetoed". . . . He leaves it to you to guess who did the vetoing. . . . Golf writers, who like to tell about the cool, nerveless way Byron Nelson plays his shots, may not know that after he missed a 16-inch putt for a winner in the P. G. A. tournament he actually was sick. And he probably didn't feel much better after blowing that four-footer Sunday that was tagged with $2,500 first money in the Tam O'Shanter Open.

—TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Zipp Newman, Birmingham News: "For a last place club, the Washington Senators must be the top drawing club for what they are giving the customers. It just goes to show how they haven't any places to go in Washington except Griffith Stadium."

—SERVICE DEPT.
John Hubbell, Carl's kid brother who is a fair country pitcher himself although he couldn't make the big leagues, has joined the Enid (Okla.) Army Flying school. . . . After Bill Davis, who used to play tackle for Texas Tech and the Chicago Cards, got into the swing of training naval air cadets at the Athens, Ga., pre-flight school, he became so enthusiastic about the business that he decided to resign his commission as a physical training instructor and become a cadet himself. Only Bill was 25 pounds over the top limit for airmen. He reduced his rations and took off 12 pounds in a hurry. Now he claims he'll get rid of the other 13 or starve in the attempt.

—JIM'S PRIZE PUPIL
Mike Tresh of the White Sox, currently rated as the American league's No. 1 umpire upbrider, recently irritated one ump so much that the arbiter broke down and asked why he said so many mean things. . . . Without cracking a smile, Mike explained, "I really don't like to do it but my boss, Jimmy Dykes, makes me do it". . . . Dykes denies the whole story and says he's kept busy thinking of things to call 'em himself.

MAURIELLO BEST PROSPECT SINCE GENE TUNNEY'S DAYS

By JACK MILEY
New York, July 28.—Tami Mauriello, the Bronx gang-buster, is the best young white heavyweight prospect since Gene Tunney was stalking champion Jack Dempsey nearly two decades ago.

At the rate Tami is traveling, the 20-year-old New Yorker will be the No. 1 challenger when Corp. Joseph Louis Barrow comes out of the Army. Not only that, but if Mauriello continues to improve and Joe gets ring-rusty by inactivity in the service, there may be a new champion when they meet.

That is the opinion of James J. Johnston, the veteran Boy Bandit of Broadway. Jimmy should know. He has seen all the heavyweights since John L. Sullivan. Nor has the veteran Manhattan fight manager any reason to boost Mauriello. It wasn't so long ago that Tami won a disputed draw with Jimmy's meal ticket, Rapid Robert Pastor.

—Resembles Burns
Mauriello has what it takes to be a champion, according to Johnston. The kid with the crippled right foot—a childhood injury that'll keep him out of the war—reminds Jimmy of a heavyweight champ of yesteryear, Tommy Burns.

It was Burns, you remember, who won the title from Marvin Hart after Jim Jeffries retired. Tommy was the champion until Jack Johnson stopped him in 14 rounds in Australia in 1908.

"Tommy Burns wasn't very big, but he could box and he could punch," Johnston recalls. "He was one of those dead-game guys."

"Well, Mauriello is built along those lines, too. At 20, Tami's just a child. A couple of years, and he'll be something to cheer about."

"Don't forget," adds the man in the iron hat, "most of our other heavyweights are frozen for the duration. Most of 'em are in service. That leaves Mauriello to make a terrific reputation for himself on the outside while the war is going on. And when peace comes, Louis'll have to fight that kid."

—History Will Repeat
"That's how Dempsey got up there in the last war. He cleaned up all comers and built up a terrific reputation for himself while we were fighting the Germans. Then when the armistice came, and Jack was the top man, and Jess Willard had to give him a chance."

"And that's what Joe will have to do with Mauriello when we've whipped the Germans—and the Japs. History will repeat itself. Having seen young Tami knock out Red Burman the other night, if I were Joe, I'd keep in light training for the duration—just in case of fire, flood or famine."

A striking tribute from Jimmy Johnson is his appraisal of Tami Mauriello.

The little Welshman is a bloke who seldom waxes so effusively over property that is not netting him a percentage.

RED SOX REPULSE INDIANS IN FIGHT FOR 2nd PLACE

Beat Cleveland, 8-5, in Only Major League Game Played

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Always a bridesmaid, but never a bride, seems to describe the Boston Red Sox.

They tremble and falter every time they are led to the first place altar of the American league, but they are as full of fury as a woman scorned whenever their right to second place is encroached upon.

Second place was at stake yesterday as Johnny Pesky they opened a four-game series with the Cleveland Indians. The two foes were deadlocked in games won and lost reckoning, but the Sox had an edge in percentage, .558 to .556.

Manager Joe Cronin shook up his batting order, moving Ted Williams to the third spot and installing himself in the clean-up slot, and he opened with his ace pitcher, Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the tall right-hander who had won ten and lost three.

Although these maneuvers didn't seem to have much bearing on the game—Cronin didn't get a hit in five times at bat and Hughson was pelted for an even dozen safeties—Boston won 8-5.

The Red Sox made 11 hits, two of them triples, three of them doubles, and all of them timely. They got ahead of Al Milnar in the eighth and polished off the performance with three runs in the ninth of their old teammate, Joe Heving, who walked two men ahead of a triple by Johnny Pesky, who then came home on a single by Williams.

This was the only game in the major leagues that escaped a rude weatherman.

Raiders Play Bees 3 Games

By The Associated Press
The Cedar Rapids Red Raiders are hoping their red hot winning streak in the Three Eye league carries through at least six more days.

In that time they will have met third-place Evansville and first-place Springfield and a continuation of the spree that has brought them 10 victories in 11 starts would leave them comfortably in first place.

Right now the Raiders are a half game behind pace setting Springfield, their winning surge having cut down the big advantage Springfield gained recently by sweeping a Cedar Rapids series.

The Red Raiders open a three-game series today with Evansville, which trails them by three and a half games. Springfield, which goes to Cedar Rapids Friday, plays at Madison today. Decatur is at Waterloo.

The clubs had an open date last night, but Cedar Rapids warmed up for its pair of important series by defeating the University of Iowa Navy cadets, 6 to 5, in an exhibition game.

BROOKVILLE IS 13-0 VICTOR IN SOFTBALL GAME

Brookville ended its first round play in the Polo Softball league last night with a record of 7 wins, no losses, by crushing the Merchants, 13 to 0.

Hess, on the mound for the winners, allowed the Merchants only 4 hits, two of them coming in the first inning when the losers loaded the bags with none away but failed to score. Hess got out of the hole by striking out two batters and forcing the third to fly to the outfield. Ross was charged with the loss.

In the second game of the doubleheader, Coopers' Sluggers lived up to their name by overpowering the Pinecrest crew, 18-17. The game was a slugfest from the first going with Pinecrest notching seven runs in the initial inning. In the seventh and last inning, the score read 18-9, Coopers' leading but Pinecrest was undismayed. The eventual losers crossed the plate 8 more times before the side was retired. Final count, Coopers, 18; Pinecrest, 17.

Wednesday night's games will start at 7:30 when two girls teams will meet in the curtain raiser to one of the best games of the year, the match between Wolf Motors and Walters' Carpenters for second place in the loop standings.

The motor crew is resting in third place at the present but a win over Walters team would give them a tie for second.

"Blacky" Livingston will be on the mound for the Wolf team with McGraf doing the receiving. "Flash" Unger and Eddie Cronister will form the Walters' battery. Unger has lost only one game in Polo this year, an 8-5 defeat at the hands of the Brookville strong boys.

Walters' Carpenters are still interested in booking out-of-town games. Anyone interested should contact Kenneth Walters of Polo.

All-Star

Dick Erditz, Northwestern quarterback, was top vote getter in the nationwide balloting for selection of a college All-Star team to oppose the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' Field, Aug. 28. Dick received 562,942 votes, 30,000 more than second place Daniel, Ohio State tackle.

NELSON PROVES CAPABLE WHEN CHIPS ARE DOWN

Captures Tam O'Shanter Crown From Heafner by 4 Strokes

By GAYLE TALBOT

Chicago, July 28.—(AP)—Byron Nelson, one of the greatest of modern linksmen, was homeward bound today with $2,500 in his hip pocket, once again having demonstrated that when the big money is on the line he virtually is unbeatable.

The demonstration came as the grand finale to that golfing circus known as the Tam O'Shanter $15,000 open tournament.

Yesterday Nelson crushed big Clayton Heafner of Durham, N. C., by four strokes in their 18-hole playoff for the championship of the dizziest of all golf events. The pair had tied at the end of the regular 72 holes, with totals of 280.

As though to atone for his unaccountable lapse of the previous day, when he soared to an inglorious 77 on the fourth round, the ex-Texan took Tam O'Shanter's soggy acres apart with a 67—five under par—to send Heafner down for the count.

Heafner Cards 71

Not that Heafner weakened. The big fellow stayed in there gamely all the way to score his 71.

Aside from his one terrible round, Nelson shot these scores at Tam O'Shanter: 67-71-65-67—270.

Although he has not been the country's top money winner the last few years—his chum, Ben Hogan, holding that distinction—Nelson has shown a remarkable propensity for capturing the really big purses. He has finished in the money in 39 consecutive tournaments over a period of 18 months.

Yesterday Nelson was out in 33, back in 34. He was down to Heafner only once during the play-off. Two up at the turn, he was converting it into a rout toward the close.

Probably the match was decided as early as the fifth hole when Nelson, already 1-5 up, blasted into the hole from about 35 feet for an eagle two to beat Heafner's birdie three. After that experience Heafner must have realized it was no use.

NINE ALL-STAR STARTERS FROM THIS SECTION

Kutner, Blozis Are Only Outsiders on Grid Squad

Chicago, July 28.—(AP)—Minnesota, Ohio State and Notre Dame each will have two representatives on the collegiate All-Star football team that will start against Chicago's Bears in the ninth annual charity game at Soldier Field, Aug. 28.

Midwest choices predominated in the final tabulations of the nation wide poll and only two of the 11 starters—Mal Kutner, Texas end, and Al Blozis, Georgetown tackle—came from outside this area.

The Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the game, said 4,928,083 fans participated in this year's balloting. Here are their choices:

Ends—Mal Kutner, Texas, and Charles Ringer, Minnesota.

Tackles—James Daniell, Ohio State, and Al Blozis, Georgetown.

Guards—Bernie Crimmins, Notre Dame, and Bob Jeffries, Missouri.

Center—Vincent Banonis, Detroit.

Quarterback — Dick Erditz, Northwestern.

Halfbacks—Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame, and Bruce Smith, Minnesota.

Fullback — Jack Graf, Ohio State.

Sixty-four other players have been invited to make up the squad which will begin practice Aug. 8 at Northwestern. Of the entire squad, 45 players are from the Midwest, 12 from the south and nine each from the east and the far west. Thirty-four universities and colleges are represented.

WILLIAMS, REISER HEAD LEAGUES; SAME MARKS

New York, July 28.—(AP)—This time last year the National league was suffering tinges of embarrassment whenever batting percentages were considered because Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox was burning the fences with a .400 plus average.

But it is even-steps now with Williams leading the American league and Pete Reiser of Brooklyn topping the National with identical marks of .354.

declared that Governor Green "had made a mistake" when he supported the legislation passed by the assembly last year. Downing said that the ADC funds, which supplanted county-administered mothers' pensions, were "spent on a lot of kids who, in my district, at least, don't need it—a lot of old women dress up and parade the streets and the kids don't get half the money." He also charged that Democrats "were frozen into jobs" by the ADC and Old Age Pension merit system of employment. Downing's charge of waste in the ADC program was challenged by Mrs. Orville Foreman of Jacksonville, co-chairman of the legislative committee of the league of women voters, who said she had seen the law "very well administered in Morgan county."

James Waller, 43rd ward committeeman in Chicago, criticized Downing's demand for patronage in ADC administration and said that elected Republican officials have power to investigate if there is any waste in allotting funds. Mark O. Roberts, Springfield attorney, made the proposal that the G. O. P. platform advocate the incorporation of labor unions, and was opposed by State Labor Director Francis P. Murphy and Thomas Humphris of Downers Grove, business representative of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Construction Laborers Union (AFL).

Deed-a-Day, Lincoln Park Elephant Killed

Chicago, July 28—(AP)—A big game hunter from the Field museum killed Deed-a-Day, the popular elephant of Lincoln Park zoo, with a single shot to the brain from an army-type rifle today when the experts decided there was no cure for her ailment, apparently a gargantuan stomach ache. Director Floyd Young of the zoo sorrowfully ordered the execution of the beast presented to the institution in 1924 by the Boy Scouts of Chicago. Deed-a-Day, 25 years old, had lost 1,000 pounds from her four-ton frame. She'd also lost the twinkle in her eyes and her appetite for peanuts.

Check on Rumors of Parachutists Near Washington

Baltimore, July 28—(AP)—Reports that "parachutists or other objects were dropped from unidentified planes" in three areas near Washington were being investigated today by military authorities, the third service command announced.

Third service command officials said the reports came from Doubs, Md., near the Potomac river about 25 miles north of Washington; from Shenandoah Junction, W. Va., six miles west of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., and from Bartgis store, a crossroads about 10 miles from Annapolis on the Defense highway to Washington.

An unidentified plane in the Shenandoah junction and Doubs areas was reported last night to the army filter center about 10:30 p. m., third service command officials said. "Details are not available for publication at this time," the service command statement said. "All precautions are being taken by the civil and military authorities."

held the use of their names, said petitions would be presented on behalf of seven of the eight defendants, whose testimony was completed before the military tribunal yesterday after a 16 day hearing. It was conjectured unofficially that the eighth defendant was George John Dasch, who has been represented by separate counsel.

The men are accused of coming ashore from Nazi submarines to blow up American war installations. "Presumably the high court, which is convening from vacation retreats in various parts of the country, must decide first whether it has any right even to receive the petitions before it can pass on to the question of jurisdiction."

The full bench of nine justices was expected to be on hand tomorrow for the first special term in more than two decades. Shortly before the call was announced, the military commission adjourned until Thursday. Unless the Supreme Court intervenes, it will start hearing final arguments then. The prisoners are being defended by United States army officers, duty-bound to protect their every interest.

front for the Japanese home office. Our hosts first asked, then demanded, that we write statements on various assigned topics, mine being internment conditions in Japan. When I refused a home officer struck twice, knocking out a dental bridge—which a Japanese dentist later replaced without charge.

This undoubtedly was the method used by the Japanese to obtain fantastic quotations from other American prisoners.

They threatened to keep me in Japan unless I wrote a statement. I finally performed. Under duress, I told the Japanese police that internment conditions were "as well as could be expected."

Now, on my way back to the United States, I can explain that I had no illusions about what could be expected.

Long-time residents of Japan used to tell me: "This would be a helluva country to be interned in." That was true. But in fairness, the Japanese difference in living standards and conditions was the main factor.

In many cases the police did their best to alleviate the situation of our group of 13 Americans in Tokyo. We were arrested the day war broke out and were interned, but not imprisoned.

Solitary Confinement

(On the other hand, Hill spent weeks in solitary confinement. Other correspondents fared similarly and, in addition to physical discomfort, underwent severe grilling in which they were struck.)

In the six months' confinement the Americans in our group organized their own routines, and furnished and cooked their own food. There was no help in this respect from Japanese authorities, but little interference either.

On the morning of Dec. 8, Tokyo's streets were normal enough. (Though it was Dec. 7 in Hawaii when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, it was Dec. 8 in Japan. But radios were blaring patriotic marches, and I was more or less prepared, when I returned from church and entered my house, to find myself surrounded by police who themselves seemed surprised and dazed by news of the war.)

With Robert Bellaire of the United Press I was held incommunicado throughout that day. All day the radio told of Japanese successes at Hawaii and the Philippines. The Japanese servants seemed unable to believe or comprehend the announcements.

HONGKONG DISASTER

By VAUGHN MEISLING

Laurence Marques, Portuguese East Africa, July 25—(Delayed)—(AP)—Hongkong, once the "Opulent Pearl of the Orient" has been reduced to a ghost town in the months since the Pacific explosion of last December.

Some 1,000,000 Chinese have been starved to such a point that the whole town has a wraithlike appearance. The Four Horsemen have ridden roughshod over the once-smiling Rivera of the Far East, and now famine, pestilence and destruction of physical and moral values stalk the former British crown colony.

The Japanese conquerors, realizing the increasing gravity of the internal situation, are doing their utmost to evacuate poorer Chinese residents to country districts of Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Fukien province, but are unable to remove sufficiently large numbers in time to cheat death.

Isolation of Hongkong island through rupture of all former trade routes, including those supplying fruits and vegetables from the mainland, has caused famine-like conditions. Rice costs eight times the former price, and many other commodities are ten or 20 times as costly as they were.

Rub In Humiliation

Laden like coolies with their personal belongings, British and American men, women and children were marched through Hongkong's most crowded streets by jubilant Japanese as dazed Chinese looked on when internment of allied nations began on January 5. It was the Japanese way of rubbing in the humiliation of the race which had ruled Hongkong for a century.

The white man had lost face. Hongkong had fallen in 18 days. Some 3,000 Americans, Britons and other allied civilians were interned.

I was among 180 imprisoned in a squalid waterfront brothel in the poorest of the Chinese slums. This dive, which the Japanese called a "hotel," was one of six such establishments they picked out in the Hongkong slums for our preliminary internment. While Tokyo boasted that Japan was observing rules of the Geneva convention, we were packed like animals—men, women and children—into vermin-ridden cubicles, many without daylight, and forced to sleep on bare opium couches, floors and chairs reeking with filth.

30 Hours—No Food

For the first 30 hours there was no food at all. Then there were wretched rice rations, supplemented by microscopic issues of vegetables and meat.

The drinking water was dangerous and we were not permitted to boil it. After 17 days of this we were marched by armed escorts a mile and a half to a steamer bound for the Stanley internment camp on the opposite side of Hongkong island.

En route we saw two gendarmes beat a Chinese to death after a trivial disturbance in a rice queue.

The Stanley camp was without lights, sufficient heat, beds, bedding, furniture or cooking facilities.

Food remained a big problem throughout our internment, with the Japanese-issued ration—mainly rice—hitting a 900-calorie low in March.

Malnutrition caused widespread beriberi, debility, loss of weight. A dysentery epidemic raged in the spring.

U. S. Sub Commander

fish erupted in the bowels of the second destroyer.

By that time the men of the third were giving a fair imitation of a madhouse.

Somebody made an attempt to fight back at the unseen tormentor and two torpedoes rocketed from the tin can's deck tubes and went charging across the cover.

They passed the submerged sub close enough to be heard. And at about that moment the sub's third torpedo connected with the last destroyer and the fight was over almost before it had begun.

By the time he was clear the Japs had contrived to put an airplane over him and he had to take a load of aerial bombs before he got away. The sub suffered no personnel casualties and was able to continue without serious hindrance.

As he pulled away the sub turned the periscope for one last look at the day's work. Two destroyers were gone entirely and the third was a wreck, burning fiercely and belching hot white smoke that merged with the cold white mist.

The War Today

his statement further makes it clear that he wouldn't trust control of the German people themselves to the regular army, indicating anticipation of possible trouble at home. Says the Nazis all highest:

"It must never again be tolerated in the future that the German armed forces conscripted from the whole people should be sent into action against their own fellow citizens. Such a step is the beginning of the end. A state which is compelled to resort to these measures thus renders itself incapable of sending its armed forces into action against the exterior foe, and thereby abdicates."

What a difference between this Axis projected world, in which Christianity would be killed if possible, and the recent pronouncements from Secretary of State Cordell Hull and British Foreign Secretary Eden, reaffirming the purpose of the United Nations to create a new world of freedom, equality and brotherly love!

NIGHT WORD

London, July 28—(AU)—Minister of Agriculture Robert Hudson told the house of commons today that plans for increasing wheat acreage might necessitate night work for farmers. He said the area under wheat would be increased by 600,000 acres and "if certain arrangements are discussed now mature farmers will be expected to work by night as well as by day."
